

Resources for Juniors in Economics

Academic Consulting for Excellence (ACE)
The McGraw Center for Teaching and Learning
328 Frist Campus Center
Appointments: <http://www.princeton.edu/mcgraw/>

McGraw Center programs can help juniors hone the important academic skills they bring to the JP. Writers can meet one-on-one with an ACE consultant to improve time management skills, to create a plan for writing the JP, to learn active reading and note-taking skills, or to develop strategies for getting the most out of the advising relationship. ACE consultants are also trained to help you with procrastination and thesis anxiety as you undertake this significant project.

The Writing Center
Appointments: <http://www.princeton.edu/writing/appt>
Drop-in Hours: Sunday - Thursday evenings, 7pm - 10pm - South Baker Hall, Whitman College

The Writing Center offers student writers free one-on-one tutoring sessions with experienced fellow writers trained to consult on assignments in any discipline. Students may bring writing projects to the Writing Center in any form – ideas, rough notes, or a first or final draft. Tutors offer advice about the writing process, from getting started to revising, and can work with students on essential elements of academic writing, such as thesis, organization, use of sources, and clarity of ideas and sentences.

Writing Partners
Appointments: <http://www.princeton.edu/writing/appt>

The Writing Partner program offers juniors working on JPs the option to a series of extended sessions with a single graduate student Writing Center tutor. This is a good option if you'd like a series of regular writing deadlines and feedback on your sections as you write them.

The University Library
Home: <http://library.princeton.edu>
Bobray Bordelon: Bordelon@princeton.edu
Subject Specialists: <http://libweb.princeton.edu/help/sub.php>
Research Appointments: <http://library.princeton.edu/help/appointment.php>

Online guides to source citation are available through the Library home page (click on "Citing Sources"). You can also talk to Bobray Bordelon, the Economics and Finance Librarian, or any other librarian in the University's library system about your research project.

Counseling and Psychological Services
University Health Services
McCosh Health Center
<http://www.princeton.edu/uhs/student-services/counseling-psychological/>
Appointments: (609) 258-3285

If you are in a panic, just pick up the phone and call. Counseling and other psychological services are available to you 24/7 during the academic year.